Alexis Straus, Region 9 Deputy Administrator;

It is time to realize that the environmentalists have made these ridiculous claims about things like jaguars and snails inhabiting the area, in order to delay the process more. Throughout the extensive mitigation process, your agency has proven that the Rosemont mine will do more good than harm to the surrounding area.

Enough is enough. There's very little sense in wasting tax dollars on pandering to such nonsense because it threatens thousands of jobs and millions in revenue for our struggling state. We are running on borrowed time. It is time for your agency to approve this mine so that we can rescue our failing economy and restore our pride in what it means to be an Arizonan.

Without further delay, approve the Rosemont Copper mine in Tucson so that Arizona can thrive once more.

Respectfully,

Melvin Middleton
